THE BENCH SHOW.

A Fine Collection of Aristocratic Canines.

ALL THE CLASSES WELL FILLED

The Best Exhibit Ever Made in the Southern Part of the State—Some Noted Prize Winners.

The third annual bench show under the auspices of the Southern California Kennel Club commenced yesterday afternoon. The officers of the club are: President, F. Holbrook; vice-presidents, T. Bright, C. E. Fout; secretary, H. T. Payne; treasurer, E. K. Benchley; bench show committee, J. F. Holbrook, H. T. Payne, C. A. Sumner, Tony Bright, E. K. Benchley, E. Unger, John Schumacher, superintendent, H. W. Wilson; veterinary surgeon, J. A. Edmonds; judge of all classes, John Davidson of Michigan.

The show opened at No. 343 South Spring street at noon yesterday, and the attendance during the afternoon and evening was far better than either of the preceding exhibitions. The club has taken great pains to make the temporary home of the dogs entered as comfortable and attractive as possible, and they have succeeded. The whole place is draped in red, white and blue bunting, and many of the kennels, especially those occupied by dogs belonging to ladies, are very attractively decorated. A large gallery has been constructed in the back part of the hall, where seats are arranged for those who desire to view the show from above.

Persons who visited the show last year will soon discover that high-bred dogs in almost every class are more numerous than ever before, which proves that interest in the bench show is increasing in Southern California.

There are some fine dogs in the mastiff class, at the head of which probably stands

Amado, owned by Mrs. Dr. Lummis, in the third class of mastiffs, under 18 months, comes John L. Sullivan, from third Kennel, and owned by E. T. McGinnis; sire Amado, dan Taffy, of Gird stock. These two will run a close race for the prize. There are quite a number of mastiffs, and they make a good showing.

The St. Bernard class is quite numerous and several of the dogs are high bred. Republican, from the Nantucket kennels of J. A. Francisco, is a magnificent specimen. He is orange and white, and was whelped March 6, 1889; breeder, A. G. Goslin of England; sire, Duke of Wellington; dam, Restless.

Among the Newfoundlanders are some beauties. Sir William, owned by Elias Williams, is a fine animal. He is very cross, however, and it would be well for his owner to muzzle him unless he tones down by today. A pretty sight in this class is Queen and her litter of pups.

The Harlequin Great Dane is represented by Dr. Le Moyne Willis' Tiger and Clio.

Both are fine specimens and took prizes at the last show.

The Great Dane is represented by a fine specimen in Christiana, owned by Charles Smith.

Her kennel is at the door, and she attracts considerable attention last night.

Among the pointer class are some fine dogs. There are borderhounds, deerhounds, greyhounds and foxhounds of all classes.

The pointers are well represented, and there are some fine dogs in this class.

English setters are also quite numerous, and among the finest in this class from a high bred standpoint might be mentioned Stanford, color lemon and white, whelped September 10, 1889, breeder Charles Tucker of Tennessee, sire Count Noble (Count winner in 1889, is a strong competitor; besides, while Hicks' Hags and Tatters are in splendid form, and the battle will be for blood. In the puppy class, there is a strong entry made, and there are several cups offered, the principal one being August Belmont's silver cup for the best puppy, for which Dr. R. W. Wilson enters a very promising youngster, and Messrs. E. Bowring, J. Mitchell, C. Canston, F. Ryan, Dr. Greene, A. T. Robinson, Dr. E. Kannon, bid others will swell the heap with their special favorites.

Thelma is owned by Frank G. Schumaker, and is one of the finest pups in the show. Her dam was imported from England and last bench show in this city. She is aged 6 months, and is a promising pup. Her owner will send her north to be trained in a short time.

The Australian ballot system is a pronounced success in Nebraska.

Cherries and apricots will soon replace oranges on the fruit stand.

The President is meeting with a most hearty reception throughout the South.

Isn't it about time to make another attempt to put that Santa Monica boulevard through?

The usual danger of the reported danger of an Apache outbreak now comes to hand from Arizona.

A new schedule for transcontinental service proposes to shorten the time from New York to San Francisco thirty hours.

The question of the right-of-way for the unsettled portion of the Coast railroad is expected shortly to be satisfactorily settled.

The weather clerk appears to be thinking of giving us a little more moisture, but can't quite make up his mind. The rainy season is about over.

Secretary Blaine has sent his reply to Rudin. He has not withdrawn in the least from his original attitude, in declaring that the law will take its course and cannot be hurried.

The death of the bright and estimable wife of Private Secretary Halford will cause sadness in more hearts than those of her husband and family, for the lady had a wide circle of friends. The sad event doubtless prevented Mr. Halford from continuing the journey with the President.

A Philadelphia doctor expresses the belief that the grip is an absolutely new disease, in no way akin to influenza, and in all probability a nervous affection or disease of the brain primarily. What sufferers are most concerned to know is not the novelty or antiquity of the disease, but how to get rid of it.

There is a movement on the part of lessees, merchants and property-owners looking to the improvement of First street, between Broadway and Spring, more particularly with reference to the condition of the sidewalks, and sidewalks which are being constructed in places. The authorities should "stand in."

A correspondent in this morning's Times calls attention to the opening which exists in Los Angeles for a shoe factory. It does seem curious that while we produce large quantities of hides, and tan sole leather that compares favorably with anything produced by eastern tanners, we continue to ship this East and then import it in the shape of shoes.

As showing the benefits of a systematic advertising of California resources in the East, Arthur Bull, president of the Western Development Company, tells the San Francisco Post that when he was at Providence, R. I., a few weeks ago, he was asked to address the members of the State Board of Trade. He did so, and the result was that before the meeting adjourned an association was formed and money subscribed to purchase land in California. From thirty-five to forty of the biggest merchants in that city signed the agreement and subscribed for heavy amounts.

The important reduction in the tariff, which removed the duty of 2 cents a pound on sugar, aggregating no less than $50,000,000 a year, was hailed as a blessing by the people of the United States. It looks, however, very doubtful whether the people will profit by any great extent by the reduction. Already we are informed that the leading sugar refineries of the United States have combined. As it is only raw sugar that is let in free, this practically places the situation in the hands of the refiners. They can pay what they please for beet and other sugars. The producer of raw sugar still has to compete with the foreign article. The consumer of sugar is in the power of the American refiners.

MEMBERS of the clergy complain that the people of Los Angeles have a tendency to run off after strange gods—that they will always hasten to listen to any religious tramp who comes along, in preference to better and abler men in this city, who are known as faithful, conscientious Christians, who preach the truth and practice it. Yet the people will pass them by and flock to listen to any false prophet who appears on the scene with a blare of trumpets. Perhaps this is in some measure due to the fact that few preachers of the present day know how to catch the ear of the public. While it may not be necessary to go as far as the Salvation Army, ministers must recognize the truth that ordinary church services will not draw large crowds of the "common people" in this closing decade of the 19th century.

Premia to Subscribers.—The Times Premium Standard Atlas of the World, worth $4, is given with each yearly cash-in-advance subscription—$10.00 in the city, or $9 by mail; also with five subscriptions to the Weekly Mirror and $10 in cash.

CORRESPONDENCE solicited. Timely local topics and news given the preference. No brief and cold points. Anonymous communications rejected.

surprised should their conduct become the subject of inquiry and investigation. Governments are not in the business of boycotting citizens, and Government functionaries are not employed for such purposes, nor are they permitted to become members of a private typographical trade union. There are plenty of law-abiding citizens to fill all the public offices.

IS CALIFORNIA LAND TOO HIGH IN PRICE.

In an interview recently had by a San Francisco Bulletin reporter with President Huntington of the Southern Pacific Company, occurs the following passage:

"What about immigration matters? I talk California to every one I see. There are other things besides the expense of getting here that operate against the increase of our population. Land is too high all over the State—entirely too high. There are lots of men who would come here, but they figure that after they get here they will have only money enough to buy about an acre of land. Up in the Northwest you can get land at from $2.50 to $5 an acre. Our railroad land we always sell cheap, because we know the value of population. People don't understand the productive value of the land here and the reason most of it is sold so high. It should be lower. It is much like the case of the old fellow who was offered the earth for 25 cents, but as he had not a quarter he wanted to know why it was sold so high."

We are sorry to note that Mr. Huntington has fallen into an error which is very common in the East. Such a statement as this, coming from one who occupies an exalted position in California, is calculated to do much harm, and to undo much good which the immigration agencies of the State are industriously seeking to accomplish. If California land is held at too high a price all over the State, it is evidently absurd for us to continue to expend time, labor and money in advertising our resources and inviting immigration. But is it too high? We have, for many years, been denying the statement, and we see no reason to change our opinion.

It is, in fact, tiresome work to continually repeat an erroneous impression which calmly pops up again and again as it is supposed to be disposed of.

What is the value of land? Is it not a multiplication of the net profit which it will yield? Judged by this standard, is it fair to compare the lands of California, which yield net returns in fruits and vegetables, of from $50 to $500 an acre, with those of the Northwest or elsewhere, which pay from $8 to $20 in grain?

All we ask of those who contemplate purchasing land in California is that they carefully examine the conditions which prevail here. If, after doing so, they are not convinced that an acre in California will yield from three to ten times as much profit as the average acre in any other State in the Union, we shall then be perfectly content to let them go elsewhere.

It is reported from Washington that the revival of the stories about Senator Stanford's coquetting with the Farmers' Alliance has only a passing interest for politicians at the capital. A good many farmers who were hard up wrote to the California millionaire telling him his 2 per cent farm mortgage bill was the panacea the country most needed, and Stanford at once concluded the Farmers' Alliance would support him for President. A Greenback newspaper in Washington has been supporting him, and there are evidences that a number of needy farmers are supplied with funds from the California's purse. Meantime there is a curious story out to the effect that Mr. Stanford's great financial scheme is only a rather clumsy modification of a plan originated two years or more ago by a citizen of Los Angeles.

GOV. MARKHAM is to arrive in this city on Tuesday afternoon, 21st inst., on his way to meet the President at the threshold of the State. He will stop here some three hours before proceeding eastward on his courteous mission. The occasion will be a suitable one for his fellow-citizens to pay him their personal respects, which they are always glad to do. The Committee of Two Hundred, at its meeting last night, appropriately voted to assemble at the depot in a body upon the arrival of Gov. Markham's car, and on behalf of the citizens, welcome him back to the city of his home, which he has not visited since he was inaugurated. It was a happy thought, and will be consummated ad amore.

ONCE more we remind reputable merchants and business men of the offense which they are committing against sound principles and good business policy, not to say law itself, when they contribute aid for the support of law-breaking strikers and anarchistic boycotters. Such conduct on the part of business men who look for support to the mass of citizens and not to a small, irresponsible and impetuous gang, cannot be defended upon any ground of right, expediency or common sense. A merchant who permits himself to be coerced into advertising or refusing to advertise, surrenders his independence and makes himself a slave.

THE dogs now hold the boards in Los Angeles. Oranges and roses have given place to man's best friend, who may be found at the show in almost endless variety, and in many cases nearly approaching perfection. There is something wrong in the make-up of a man who does not like a dog—or whom a dog does not like. The list of entries at the bench show now open is very large. The show should be visited by all friends of the canine race.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

"Nothing Like Leather."

PARADENA, April 14.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] The writer has read with considerable interest your article on manufactures in yesterday's issue of THE TIMES. I am an eastern man and your article coincides with my views of the situation entirely.

This is a glorious country and possesses a climate that cannot be surpassed. It has every attraction for the tourist and the invalid, but very little to attract the skilled mechanic and man of small means.

I would like to call your attention to one industry that, started on a firm basis and intelligently managed, would undoubtedly pay in this community, and one that would bring into our midst a good class of wage-workers. I refer to shoe manufacturing. I have been in a number of our fine shoe centers in Los Angeles and vicinity, and in every case noticed upon their shelves the product of large eastern factories whose names are familiar to me—namely those from Philadelphia, Boston, Newark, N. J., Rochester, N. Y., Brockton, Rockland, Mass., and other large shoe towns in New England. The writer is not a practical shoe man, but is in a kindred branch of the trade and in a position to know some facts in regard to the business. The eastern shoe industry produces a large number of hides and tans large quantities of sole-leather—leather that will compare favorably with anything produced by eastern tanners, and today there are being made large shipments to Chicago, Boston, New York and other large leather markets in the East, only to be sold to the large shoe manufacturers and by them in many cases, no doubt, shipped right back again in the sole of shoes to be worn out on California soil. True there are shoes manufactured in and about San Francisco, but comparatively few of them find their way to this section of the country. The trade is held mostly by eastern manufacturers.

There is undoubtedly a good field in Southern California and adjacent States for an industry of this kind. It would probably require an eastern man with advanced ideas—one who has been brought up in business in one of the great shoe towns in the East—to manage the affair, one thoroughly posted in every detail of the business; but a man of this kind could easily be found if the right inducements were offered.

Some of our money men think over this matter—determine to what extent they are willing to go in encouraging and fostering an enterprise of this kind. Once established, with solid backing, and supported by the State, the money and the thing, it seems to me, would be bound to pay.

Any information desired on the subject could probably be got by addressing either Shoe and Leather Reporter, No. 17 Spruce street, New York, or the Shoe and Leather Review at No. 182 Monroe street, Chicago. Either of these journals would, no doubt, willingly give any information desired, and an advertisement in either would send the subject of the greatest interest to light the man for the practical part of the work.

GETTING READY

For the Reception of the President and Party.

MORE ABOUT RAILROAD RATES.

The Conservator of Public Utilities Prof. Kyle—Hotel San Gabriel—Personal Points and Brevities.

The Executive Committee in charge of the coming reception to President Harrison and party met at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning at Hotel Green, Chairman Bowler presiding. The number of carriages needed, and the manner of seating the guests in the drive were subjects brought up for discussion. No definite plans were made. Numerous suggestions were made as to the style of badges, after which the matter was again referred to Mr. Arthur. It was proposed that the Finance Committee raise $300 toward defraying the expenses, each member of the Committee of Seventeen to pay $5 into the fund. J. A. Buchanan was chosen treasurer of this committee. On the matter of the banquet Col. Bowler stated the lowest figure per plate by which he could do justice to the affair. Col. Bowler explained that elaborate menu cards are to be printed, a large force of waiters secured, and everything conducted in elaborate style.

The committee then adjourned to the Board of Trade, where the Committee of Seventeen convened. J. A. Buchanan was made permanent vice-chairman of the Reception Committee. WHAT WILL BE DONE?

Higher Rates or Fewer Trains on the T. & P.

As a result of the meeting on Tuesday between the Terminal road officials and City Council, Messrs. Simpson, McQuilling and Clarke of the latter body yesterday went to Los Angeles and spent the afternoon going over the company's books to learn whether the road is being operated at as great a loss as claimed.

The committee came home satisfied that everything is as represented. A most thorough inspection of the books shows that between March 1, 1890, and March 1, 1891, the road has lost nearly $12,000, or an average of about $1000 a month. The operating expenses, moreover, have not been extravagant, and numerous items, such as the $2500 expense incurred in repairing the spring washouts, are not down under this head. The committee express themselves as thoroughly convinced that the road has been capably managed, and that the deficit has resulted altogether from the present rates of fare.

What the road asks is its present right-of-way through town be amended so as to allow the price of round-trip tickets to be raised from 25 to 35 cents, and that of single tickets from 20 to 25 cents, on the understanding that monthly commutation tickets be reduced from $7 to $5. Mr. McQuilling has figured it out, and finds that such a scale of prices ought to net the company an annual profit of $4,200—not a very big amount for a $600,000 investment—while, if the round trip tickets are put at 35 cents and the single trips at 20 cents, the company would still operate at a slight loss.

The matter will be thoroughly discussed at the meeting of Council Saturday afternoon, and all interested citizens are invited to be present and express their views.

It looks as if the rates will have to be raised, or fewer trains run.

PROF. KYLE SURPRISED.

His Friends Take Him Unawares on His Birthday.

Yesterday was Prof. O. W. Kyle's birthday, and the events attending it are calculated to make it long linger in his memory. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Kyle took dinner at the residence of Mr. Stutenburgh, on North Euclid avenue. The dinner passed off pleasantly, and later, as those present had entered upon a quiet social chat, the sound of an advancing multitude was heard, and a twinkling of an eye the house was filled with a merry throng of young ladies and gentlemen.

It was the Pasadena conservatory of opera out in full force, to pay their respects to their popular director. Before Mr. Kyle knew what it meant E. T. Howe stepped to the front and in a graceful and witty manner presented to Mr. Kyle in behalf of those present a beautiful baton, composed of ebony and ivory, inscribed with mother of pearl and bearing the inscription "Pasadena conservatory of music." The recipient was completely surprised both by the reception and gift. He, however, acknowledged the appreciation of it all in a happy manner. This ended the formal part of the proceedings and the rest of the evening was given up to mirth and song, interspersed with refreshments.

FEMALE HERMITS.

Two Feminine Eccentrics Live Alone in Isolation for Many Years.

For more than sixty years Mary and Lizzie Harper have lived in a tumble down log hut near the village of New Trenton, Franklin county, Ind., four miles from the Ohio line. They are the most remarkable specimens of eccentricity in this country, and have been objects of curiosity for more than half a century. They are old maids, and have been really dead to the world ever since they were children. Mary, the elder, is 62 years old, and her sister Lizzie 60.

The oldest inhabitant of that locality doesn't know when the Harpers came to the place. It is only known that the father and mother of the eccentric old maids lived and died in the miserable log shanty from which neither of the two women has ever been away for more than a few hours at a time. The roof of the shanty fell in ten years ago, and was only held up from the ground by the high posts of the old fashioned bedstead in which they sleep. There is no floor, and the ground has been worn down into a regular burrow. The sisters own property, but they take no interest in the care of it. The stock which they used to have all died from exposure and neglect.

All the efforts of the neighbors to induce the women to take some interest in the care of their property have been unavailing. Mary only tries to pay the interest on the mortgage on their farm, and once every year walks twelve miles to the county seat and settles the account. Her sister Lizzie has the peculiar habit of the snake and ground hog. Although she has no physical ailment, she goes to bed on Oct. 1 every year and is not seen again until April. There is some mystery surrounding the strange conduct of these old maids, but the reasons for their hermit life and their almost complete retirement from the world have never been satisfactorily explained.

Recently the neighbors erected a small frame cottage adjoining the pen in which they lived so long, but it was only after threats of having the two women removed to the poor house that they could be induced to occupy it. They are continually complaining about their hard lot, and want to return to the hovel, which is the most squalid and miserable place imaginable. The sisters are perfectly respectable, but know nothing of what is going on. They can't even tell the day of the week, and are utterly indifferent to everything.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Don't Be Afraid of Cold Air.

To suppose that the constant inhalation of impure air has a tendency to excite the symptoms of consumption is not at all unreasonable, when we consider the wonderful mechanism of the lungs and the efforts which they are continually employing to throw off the poisons of a corrupted air which has been breathed again and again, until its foulness has become unbearable, and even worse—overpowering. One drop of the fluid condensed from the air which has come from the lungs has been found sufficiently powerful to cause instant death. Is it any wonder that many are wasting away and slowly dying upon this destructive food?

The fear of catching cold has caused more sickness than all the colds that ever were "caught." With this foolish dread many strip up their doors, bind their windows, and look upon every puff of wind as if it were some keen thief who had come to rob them of their lives.

This custom prevails mostly among the better class, or "the rich," as they are termed. The poor man, who has comforts are confined to a little frame house, is seldom heard to complain; and his children are always hale and hearty, in spite of the many draughts which come in through the cracks and the rents of every door and window. The infinite value and the immediate necessity of ventilation must not be underrated, for it is this ever changing current that contributes the greatest boon toward the health and happiness of all classes of humanity.—Hall's Journal of Health.
